HAIG AGAIN FORCED BACK

53 MILLION FOR NEW ENGLAND TOTAL

Over $7,500,000 of Liberty Bonds Taken by 10,000 New Subscribers in Single Day

New England today reported that $53,584,000 of the Third Liberty Loan had been subscribed up to the close of business on Wednesday. This amount is $7,675,000 more than the toal repored for the first three days of the campaign.

More than 10,000 individual subscriptions made up the seven odd million of subscriptions which were today added to the total report of yesterday. The actual number of individual subscribers making the $53,584,000 total today was 45,574.

The figures given out today by the New England Federal Reserve Bank do not, however, represent the aggregate total which has been subscribed to date. Only 599 banks out of the 844 active banks in New England are included in today's report. Two hundred and forty-five banks failed to report their Wednesday's business in time to be tabulated with the figures made public today.

$4,000,000 BY BAY STATE.

The total reported represents simply the subscriptions actually completed in the different banks by the making of the initial payment of 5 per cent. by the subscriber, the sum being reported to the Federal Reserve by the banks receiving it.

Of the total for the fourth day Massachusetts subscriptions were $4,214,000; Connecticut, $1,778,000; Maine, $540,000; Rhode Island, $438,000; New Hampshire, $398,000; Vermont, $312,000.

The state totals are as follows: Vermont $1,670,000, New Hampshire $2,161,000, Maine $3,109,000, Rhode Island $4,883,000, Connecticut $10,156,000, Massachusetts $31,605,000.

The total for the fourth day is very much smaller than any one of the three preceding days and is distinctly a reminder that while the subscriptions began with such an encouraging total, the full quota can be accomplished only by the most persistent and thorough-going work through the whole district during the entire month. While the average

JAMES W. PHELAN DIES AT HIS BROOKLINE HOME

James W. Phelan, father of James J. Phelan, Boston banker, died today at his home, No. 11 Chiswick road, Brookline, in his seventy-fourth year. He was born in Kilkenny, Ireland, and when a boy emigrated to Canada. Later he came to Boston.

Mr. Phelan was an expert accountant. He was a journalist during his younger days and wrote many articles for magazines. He was the author of several books.

Mr. Phelan's wife, who was Miss Catherine Colbert, died sixteen years ago. Besides his son James J. he leaves another son, Charles A. Phelan, a Boston broker. The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and will be private. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Sound Warning Against Let-up in Loan Drive

A warning against over-confidence on the part of Liberty Loan workers was sounded today from Liberty Loan headquarters, No. 30 Kilby street, when it was learned that today's report showed but a $7,685,000 gain over yesterday's figures.

Today's total gain over yesterday is but one-half as large as the average gains for the first three days of the present campaign.

Loan workers were urged to exert every effort to boost the daily totals, and not to slacken their efforts because the first few days' figures disclosed such apparent strength.

National Honor Flag for Loan Is Won by Oregon

By International News Service.

Washington, April 12.—Oregon will fly the national Liberty Loan honor flag that has been floating from the treasury building here. The Treasury Department announced today that that State is the first to pass its quota. Oregon's allotment was $18,495,000, and today subscriptions totaling $19,044,000 have been reported. A message of congratulation was sent immediately to the Oregon central committee.

Iowa probably will have the honor of being the second State to pass its quota. A claim was received today from this State for the national honor flag, but it arrived a few minutes after the honor had been accorded Oregon.

GERMANS ANGRY AT AUSTRIAN OFFER

Emperor Charles' Peace Plea and Alsace Statement Stir Diplomatic Hornets' Nest

By International News Service.

Washington, April 12.—The diplomatic side of the world war today was rampant with sensation that yet may redound to the advantage of the Entente.

Premier Clemenceau's charge that Emperor Charles of Austria had favored restoration of France's lost provinces has caused a most profound sensation in Germany, despite the Austrian emperor's denial.

The very fact that the French Premier made it plain that the assurance of the Austrian ruler was contained in an autograph letter indicated that France is ready to produce proof. And it is very plain from information reaching official and diplomatic sources that Berlin is inclined to doubt the solidarity of Germany's chief ally.

It is understood here that, when Premier Clemenceau goes before the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Deputies next Wednesday

Volunteers Raising Baseball Fund for Camp Devens

Two Massachusetts organizations have come to the bat with voluntary plans to run benefits for the Boston AMERICAN'S Camp Baseball Fund. They are the Fire Department and Selectmen of Franklin and the "Happy Twenty" Newsboys' Club of Boston.

The fund is being raised for the purpose of building at Camp Devens a grandstand for the men of the Seventy-sixth Division, an improvement which has the hearty support of Major-General Harry Hodges, commanding the division, and of military and civic divisions all over New England.

Miss Lena R. Baker, a high school girl, has just been appointed secretary and treasurer of the collection which will be taken by the "Happy Twenty." The office at No. 266 Washington street is to be headquarters for the collection taken up by this club of newsboys and every boy in the organization is now a rooter for the baseball fund. Miss Baker has been identified with Red Cross work and with various concerts and benefits which have been given for soldiers. She has three brothers in the service.

To Franklin belongs the honor of being the first town in the State to take municipal action in the interest of the fund.

STOCKS ARE WELL TAKEN, RECESSIONS RESULT

New York, April 12.—After the sharp advance at the opening there were some recessions in the stock market, due almost wholly to the fact that the buying orders were all executed, but after these recessions the demand again became better and prices moved up.

Distillers Securities advanced one point to 43⅞ and Reading to 78⅜. Inspiration Copper, selling ex-dividend, made a net gain of a point at 46⅞. Anaconda and American Smelting made fractional gains. Utah declined. Marine preferred sold up to 92⅝ and the common to 24⅜. Steel common was in fairly good demand, selling up to 89⅝. The railway issues were fractionally higher.

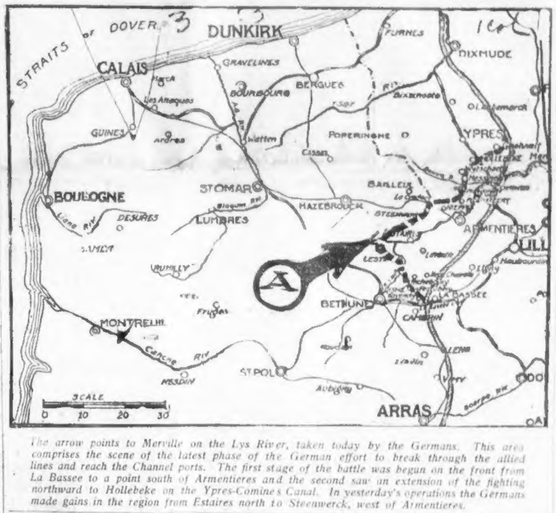
NEW BATTLE LINE WEST OF ARMENTIERES



The arrow points to Merville on the Lys River, taken today by the Germans. This area comprises the scene of the latest phase of the German effort to break through the allied lines and reach the Channel ports. The first stage of the battle was begun on the front from La Bassee to a point south of Armentieres and the second saw an extension of the fighting northward to Hollebeke on the Ypres-Comines Canal. In yesterday's operations the Germans made gains in the region from Estaires north to Steenwerck, west of Armentieres.

RED SOX ARRIVE HOME; READY FOR START

Led by the portly form of Manager Edward G. Barrow, the Red Sox arrived home from the South early this afternoon in ship-shape to start the big league season, which opens at Fenway Park next Monday. The players and leader "steamed" in on the Twentieth Century Limited, which they left at the Back Bay Station, immediately disbanded and departed for different hotels.

All were glad to get back to Boston. Especially was this true of fighting Johnny Evers, who seems delighted to be with the Red Sox. The Trojan is predicting great things for the Frazee entry and is supremely confident that it will be "up there" from the go-off.

Many new faces were noted in the Red Sox gathering. There was Dave Shean, the Arlington boy, secured from the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for George Foster; "Stuffy" McInnis of Gloucester, Amos Strunk, "Bullet Joe" Bush and Wallie Schang, ex-members of the Athletics, and George Whiteman and Paul Smith, who formerly cavorted the outfields in the International League.

FOOD SUPPLIES TO BE RUSHED TO HOLLAND

Washington, April 12.—Special measures have been taken by the War Trade Board to rush food to Holland. Three vessels have been authorized immediately to load 14,000 tons of grain and proceed with it at once to The Netherlands.

This step is in addition to the measures for rationing Holland provided in the President's proclamation taking over the Dutch ships, except that the grain now put on rush orders will be charged against the supply provided in the President's proclamation. The rush orders were issued in order that there may be no suffering in the Dutch nation through any delay caused to the carrying out of the terms of the President's proclamation.

TANK BRITANNIA IS OFF TO PROVIDENCE

Boston saw the last of the big war tank Britannia this afternoon when she was loaded on a freight car in the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad yards and started for Providence. She will spend tomorrow in that city and from there will go to Buffalo and Pittsburgh. The Britannia paid an offical visit to the Charlestown navy yard today where she was inspected by Captain William R. Rush, commandant of the yard and his staff.

Among a dozen men who enlisted at the British and Canadian Recruiting mission headquarters at No. 41 Bromfield street today were five Boston Jews, who will be sent to the headquarters at Windsor, N. S., of the Jewish battalion that is to garrison Palestine.

MERVILLE TAKEN BY HUN FORCES

London, April 12.—A dispatch from Geneva says news has been received from Strassburg that Von Hindenburg is under treatment in a private hospital suffering from a "slight wound caused by a bomb dropped by one of the allies' airplanes on the western front."

London, April 12.—Merville, on the Lys River in northern France, was captured by the Germans after a severe struggle last night, the British War Office stated

Merville lies just northeast of Lestrem on the Hazebrouck road. It is between seventeen and eighteen miles west of Lille, eight miles north of Bethune and between seven and eight miles southeast of Hazebrouck. The capture of Merville represents a further advance of about three miles in the drive for the coast

Violent fighting continued during the night in the new battle which has developed between La Bassee canal and the Ypres-Comines canal in Belgium.

Heavy German pressure resulted in their making progress at some points.

In the sector of Ploegsteert wood, on the West Flanders front, the British took up new and stronger positions.

The extreme northern end of the battle line remained virtually unchanged.

In the region of Festubert a British counter attack won back ground which the Germans had previously taken.

Many of the German attacks were brilliantly repulsed.

GUN DUELS ON THE SOMME.

On the Somme river (Picardy battle front) there were only artillery duels.

"There was a continuation of severe fighting during the night in the neighborhood of Merville and Nef Berquin," the official report said. "The enemy exerted strong pressure and made some progress in both sectors. Merville was captured by the enemy during the night fighting."

"Attacks by the Germans in the neighborhood of Ploegsteert succeeded in pressing back the British to new

IRISH MAJORITY IN CONVENTION FOR HOME RULE

London, April 12.—Home rule for Ireland was approved by the majority of the delegates to the Irish home rule convention, which has been meeting at various places since last Summer. It became known today, when the official report of the proceedings was given out here.

There was a minority report, issued by the Ulsterites (Unionists), who dissented from some of the principles in the majority report. The report provides for the establishment of a Parliament to enact internal administration, conduct governmental administration and levy taxes.

FORMER ARMY TRANSPORT MEADE SINKING

The former United States army transport Meade, which was recently turned over the United States Shipping Board, is sinking off the New England coast, according to a message received today. A crew of 35 men were taken off by the coast guard cutter and the ocean tug Germantown, which were standing by. Battered by the northeast gale, and her seams opened up by constant rolling, the Meade was not expected to last many hours. A week ago today the former transport, which had been out of commission for some time, started for port in tow of the Seminole.

positions in the neighborhood of Monveeguse (Neuve Eglise).

"The northern end of the battle front remains virtually unchanged.

GROUND RECOVERED.

"Part of the British positions into which the enemy had forced his way north of Festubert were regained by a counter attack.

"Between the Loisne and the Lawe River attacks by the Germans were repulsed.

"In the sector north of La Bassee canal fighting has continued along the whole front as far as Hollebeke (in Belgium).

"Strong local attacks by the enemy in the vicinity of Neuville Vitasse failed.

"Further north the enemy was able, after a long struggle, to enter British positions near Messaines, but were quickly driven out.

"The German artillery was active on both sides of the Somme River (opposite Amiens)."

Violent artillery was reported from the region of Hangard-en-Santerre by the French War Office today.

The French made successful reconnaissances in the region of Noyon and Canny Sur Matz, capturing some prisoners.

FRENCH TAKE PRISONERS.

"There was heavy artillery fighting in the region of Hangard during the night," the Paris communique said. "Reconnaissances carried out by the French resulted in the capture of prisoners in the districts of Noyon and Canny Sur Matz. Other prisoners were captured in successful raids near Chernisy and west of Mesnil."

Hangard is between nine and ten miles southeast of Amiens.

Field Marshal Haig in his official advices on Thursday night said that the Germans had pressed their attacks strongly along the entire battle front.

Heavy and continuous assaults were driven home in the sector of the Lawe River, between Loisne and Lestrem.

GAIN MADE IN BELGIUM.

The Fifty-First Division of the British army distinguished itself for gallantry in the fighting in this district and by powerful counter thrusts threw back the Germans from some of the ground they had gained.

The Germans were able to gain some ground also in Belgium, in the neighborhood of the Ploegsteert wood. The enemy continued to throw fresh troops into the fighting between Ploegsteert and Ypres, but was unable to shake the British front in that region. All of the assaults were repelled with heavy losses.

Military critics are divided in opinion as to the objects of the German General Staff. Many French war experts regard the new German drive between La Bassee Canal and the Ypres-Comines canal as a diversion, while others view it as a serious attempt to break through to Calais and Dunkirk.

Amiens is still regarded as one of the chief German objectives, and a renewal of fighting in that zone, especially along the section of the front held by French, was expected any time.

A dispatch from Paris quoted Marcel Hutt, a writer on military affairs for the Echo de Paris, as saying that "all now depends upon the arrival of British reserves to break the Germans' efforts to outflank Amiens."

PROMISES OF VICTORY.

Major DeCivrieux of the Matin predicts another spread of German pressure further north in an effort to break the juncture of the British and Belgian armies, just as the Germans tried to put a wedge between the French and British armies south of Amiens.

German prisoners captured on the Picardy battle field and in the fighting along the Franco-Belgian frontier, say that they have been assured by their officers that the present engagement will prove decisive, and that the war probably will end this month.

This is viewed as a German bluff, as the War Office reports put out in Berlin show no such confidence. The official statement issued by the German office last night merely said:

"The battle near Armentieres is taking a further favorable course.

"The Germans have penetrated into the suburbs of Armentieres. South of Estaires the River Lawe has been crossed at some points."

The British War Office in its day report Thursday admitted a retirement from Armentieres, which was full of deadly gas from German shells.

BIG GUNS HEARD IN PARIS.

Cannonades have continued along the French front, on the southern flank of the Amiens salient. North of Montdidier and in the sector of Lassigny the bombardments have been intense. Massed batteries on both sides engaged in drum fire duels which were so intense that they were plainly heard in the suburbs of Paris, over sixty miles away. During an intermission in the shelling the Germans made two attacks in the Noyon sector, but both broke down under the French fire.

The northern zone has been the vital point during the past few days and the lion-hearted courage of the British soldiers on that line has won the admiration of the entire world. The British maintain their grip on Messines Ridge, the highest point in Western Belgium, and all efforts of the Germans to break it have collapsed.

The Germans claim to have captured 10,000 British and Portuguese prisoners of war (including a Portuguese general) since the fresh battle opened on Wednesday morning.

Large concentrations of reserves were massed behind the front by Von Hindenburg, who took the British by surprise. The German high command, by delivering a series of sledgehammer blows at Amiens, expected to draw practically all of the available British reserves to that district, and then suddenly thrust at the point where his lines lie nearest to the coveted channel ports.

The allies have the situation well in hand all along the line and confidence in France and England remains unshaken.

he will not only produce his proof of the announced position of Emperor Charles, but that he also will make further sensational revelations of both Austrian and German intrigue—possibly involving two neutral nations—which may have the effect of clearing diplomatic skies and result in additional complications for Germany.

Incidentally, the various reports of the peace conference of the mysterious "Professor" Anderson who visited Count Apponyi, the Austrian pacifist, before the United States entered the war, have aroused only the most languid interest in official quarters here. His efforts, like those of Henry Ford and other self-appointed conciliators, never had any official standing, officials say.

TEUTONS DRIVE TOWARD CHIEF RAIL CENTRE

Capture Merville, Seven Miles From Hazebrouck, Where Seven Lines Converge

By FRANK CHARLTON.
International News Service Cable Editor.

By the exertion of terrific pressure all along the battle front on the Franco-Belgian frontier during the night, the Germans gained more ground, captured the village of Merville and advanced their lines at some points about two miles.

Merville lies on the Lys River and is about seven and one-half miles from Hazebrouck, toward which point the Germans seem now to be driving from the southeast. Hazebrouck is an important railway center, seven lines running out of the place.

Fighting of great ferocity, in which huge numbers of men and guns were employed, has continued for a distance of twenty miles from La Bassee canal sector to the Ypres-Comines canal.

BRITISH FORCED BACK.

The Germans concentrated their efforts in the zone immediately southwest of Armentieres, which the British evacuated on Wednesday afternoon, and in the Ploegsteert-Missines-Wytschaete sector in Belgium. In the Ploegsteert district the Germans delivered a number of powerful thrusts, compelling the British to fall back upon Neuve Eglise.

Neuve Eglise is about a mile and three-quarters northeast of Ploegsteert.

The Germans attacked repeatedly along this front and received numerous bloody checks. North of Festubert the British delivered a strong counter blow which sent the Germans reeling from a position they had previously taken.

HEAVY ARTILLERY FIRING.

Festubert is near the southern end of the battle zone. It lies between three and four miles northeast of Bethune and the same distance northwest of La Bassee on the canal of the same name.

The only activity reported by the British War Office today from the Picardy theatre of operations was the shelling of British positions on both sides of the Somme by German artillery. That sector lies immediately east of the British base at Amiens.

KAISER'S FATE UP TO AMERICA, SAYS CUSHING

Bay State Man Declares Allies Have Reached Limit of Men and Supplies

By International News Service.

New York, April 12.—"The fate of Hohenzollernism hinges on America. The allies have about reached the limit of man power and supplies. It is now up to America."

This was the message today of former Lieutenant-Governor Grafton D. Cushing of Massachusetts, who has just returned from a six weeks' trip through England and France and the battle fronts in the interest of the Liberty loan.

Discussing the gigantic struggle now raging on the plains of Picardy, he said the French attach little importance to the German gains.

"The allies do not care for the loss of a little shell-torn waste of land here and there. The principal thought is 'kill the Germans.' They are willing to sacrifice wastes of No Man's Land to this end."

Mr. Cushing's party of New Englanders and New Yorkers visited the American front. He had only words of praise for the morale of the Yankee troops and expressed amazement at the rapidity of the gigantic task of training, supplying and getting these men into the trenches. His visit to the American front was so brief he did not have time to see the Massachusetts troops, he said.

Mr. Cushing and his party were in the citadel at Verdun when the place was shelled by the Germans. There were a number of casualties among soldiers. A shell dropped within 50 feet of Cushing's party, but no one was hurt.

MRS. FAIRBANKS DARES "RIVAL" TO CONFESS LOVE FOR SCREEN STAR

"DOUGLAS MY ONLY LOVE"

Actor's Wife Declares She Will Not Sue Either for Money or Legal Separation

By International News Service.

New York, April 12.—Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks declared she felt she must not stand in the way of her husband's happiness, in a statement made by her regarding her separation from the motion picture star.

"I am sorry the woman who has caused all this unhappiness in our home is not willing to acknowledge to the world, as she has acknowledged to her friends and her family, her love for Mr. Fairbanks.

ONLY ONE THING TO BE DONE.

"My husband has never openly confessed his love for any screen star in my presence. But our separation now has come about because he had grown to feel that his love for some other woman was the biggest thing in both their lives. When he reached the point where his wife and his son no longer mattered in comparison, then I knew there was only one thing to be done, that he must go his way while I went mine.

"My interest in my husband is absolute and sincere. I feel that I must not stand in the way of his happiness. I love him and will never love anyone else in the world. I have no idea of molesting or annoying any other woman who may have come in to claim the happiness which belongs to me. I am simply making this statement as I do not want the world to think this separation is the result of my wishes in the matter.

"I will not sue and there will be no divorce. Money will never recompense for such loss as this."

Mrs. Fairbanks said that word had reached her indirectly that her husband had denied, in Detroit, where he was speaking for the Liberty Loan, that there had been a separation.

"It was like him to add this," said she. "He characterized the report as 'German propaganda.' It is much to have a husband with a thorough-going sense of humor.

"This is my final statement. I will have nothing more to say about the matter."

Mrs. Fairbanks received a steady stream of telegrams from friends in all parts of the country following the announcement made in the New York American of her separation. There were telephone calls coming to her in the Hotel Algonquin all day. For the present Mrs. Fairbanks will remain in New York. She said she would still keep her home in California. Her decision to stay in the East was made chiefly because of eight-year-old Douglas, Jr., who wants to go to school in New York.

CONSIDERED HER SON.

It was really Douglas, Jr., who figured prominently in his mother's plans yesterday. Mrs. Fairbanks is a very modest person, and the country-wide publicity attendant on the announcement of her separation from her famous husband was one of the hardest things she has had to face. She explained bravely:

"It was for Douglas, Jr., first of all. For his sake as well as for mine, this could not go on. When the whispering and the gossip started it was always the boy and myself whose names were bandied about and we were the ones who inevitably received the brunt end of it all. Perhaps now that the innuendoes are done away with, we shall be able to go our way unmolested by curious, too wise friends who fashion their gossip about our home."

To those closely associated with the families of men who have made great successes in the theatrical world or on the moving picture screen, Mrs. Fairbanks with her definite ideas of the big place a man's home should always have in his life, has won a unique place for herself. Her youth, her quiet charm of manner and her devotion to her husband and her young son have come to be almost proverbial.

"Affinity Stuff All Bunk," Says Fairbanks of Separation Story

Detroit, Mich., April 12.—Convinced today that his wife had really made the statements accredited to her in New York dispatches, Douglas Fairbanks "registered surprise."

"It's all news to me. Mrs. Fairbanks and I have been corresponding constantly and there has never been a hint of any trouble between us. My brother John, who is here with me, saw my wife in New York only twelve days ago and they had luncheon together. If there had been anything wrong he surely would have heard it."

Asked about the "affinity stuff," Douglas declared it was "all bunk."

WOMEN MAKE 20X12-FOOT STATE LOAN HONOR FLAG

The Massachusetts Liberty Loan Honor Flag will soon be unfurled to the breeze. The above photograph shows the flag, which was made by a committee of women headed by Mrs. Barrett Wendell, being held by girl workers at Liberty Loan headquarters and John K. Allen of the Liberty Loan Committee. The girls, left to right, are: Helen Greene, Grace Sanderson, Helen Phillips and Mrs. A. C. Kelley.

The State Honor Flag in the Third Liberty Loan drive is now at the headquarters of the Liberty Loan Committee of New England to receive the names of honor cities and towns.

This flag was made by women of the Massachusetts Aid Society for American Preparedness, of which Mrs. Barrett Wendell is president. It was formally presented to the Liberty Loan Committee, at its headquarters, No. 80 Kilby street, where it will remain until the Massachusetts loan quota is completed.

Upon the completion of the Bay State allotment of $162,286,000 the flag will be flown from the State House.

The names of cities and towns that have reached or exceeded their local quota will be entered on the flag in the order received.

MRS. FRENCH'S SUPPORT SUIT DISMISSED

Court Reserves Decision as to Custody of Latin School Instructor's Children

After listening to arguments of counsel Judge Grant in the Suffolk Probate Court today dismissed the petition of Mrs. Julia F. French, of Royal street, Allston, for separate support from her husband, Charles W. French, an instructor in Boston Latin School and a graduate of Dartmouth College.

The judge continued for thirty days decision on the custody of the five children, which was asked by Mrs. French. The court expressed a hope that in the meantime a satisfactory arrangement might be made, but if that should fail he would consider the appointment of a guardian.

The judge further said that if convinced that Mrs. French had been guilty of unfaithfulness he would have no hesitation in immediately disposing of the case. He was not satisfied, however, that such was the case.

Mr. French will be obliged under a decree of Judge Fox of the Superior Court to continue to pay Mrs. French $100 a month for the support of the children.

BABY SUFFOCATED AT FIRE IN REVERE

John F. Owens, 21 months old, son of Thomas F. Owens of Roxbury, was suffocated at a fire in the story and a half wooden house owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy at No. 26 Curtis road, Revere, today. The fire originated in the kitchen and worked to the attic. Mrs. Murphy discovered it. Flames barred her way to the baby upstairs, but Ladderman Joseph Smith brought the child to the ground and Dr. Isaac P. Park at once used the pulmotor in the effort to resuscitate him. He died in half an hour.

CHECK BLAZE IN HOLD OF ARMY TRANSPORT

An Atlantic Port, April 12.—Fire was discovered early today in the hold of a former Atlantic liner, now in transport service and docking here. Firemen prevented spread of the blaze, and damage is said to be slight. The fire is thought to have started from a torch used by workmen.

GERMAN CLUBS GET LICENSES IN LAWRENCE

People Criticise Renewals in View of Prize Won by Girl in "Kaiser Mustache"

Lawrence, April 12.—Announcement today by the License Commissioners that the liquor licenses of the five German clubs of the city had been renewed caused comment, owing to rumors of German propaganda.

These rumors have been heard with renewed force since the masquerade ball held by one of the clubs a few weeks ago at which the first prize, with much applause, was bestowed upon a girl in military costume wearing a mustache with ends upturned Kaiser fashion.

The girl headed a squad of other girls. All were clad in khaki, but the Kaiser-like mustache of the leader was regarded by later complainants as giving a Teutonic finish to the masquerading effect of the squad.

The situation was aggravated, according to those criticising the masquerade, by the fact that another girl, costumed as the Goddess of Liberty, received scant attention and no prize at all. At a previous German club masquerade this same "Goddess of Liberty" girl received a minor prize.

Letters of protest have been published. One writer charged that sounds like cheering were heard from a German hall on a recent morning after reports of German battle gains were received.

The writer mentioned "centres of vicious German propaganda" and cited the 3,000 youths that Lawrence has sent to fight under the United States flag.

The other letter protested against liquor licenses being renewed for the German clubs. The latter added:

"Police officials have been present at German balls this year as well as last. A prominent public official declared: 'It has seemed to many citizens that disloyal actions and doings were being winked at for policy's sake.'"

About 125 licenses were granted in all. The chief change is refusal of a license to the Essex House.

ACCUSE AGED MAN OF TRYING TO START FIRE

Antonio B. Saraca, three score years and ten, was arrested early today on a charge of attempting to build a fire in a doorway at No. 176 Atlantic avenue, opposite the Quincy Cold Storage Company's warehouse on T Wharf. The authorities said that Saraca explained that he was cold and tried to make a fire to warm himself. As he was arrested by a military guard he was taken to the United States Marshal's office. Saraca said his home was in Haverhill. His story is being investigated.

New U. S. Method to Locate Guns of the Enemy

By International News Service.

Washington, April 11.—Scientific research has developed a new and powerful method of warfare for the United States.

A series of delicately attuned instruments which have already proved successful in practice will enable the American fighting forces to determine the precise location of any enemy gun within a distance of ten miles.

This was revealed here by William C. Redfield, secretary of commerce, in an address at the national conference of lecturers. He said the instruments registered the velocity and the direction of shells and that by mathematical computation it was possible to return the fire that would score a bullseye practically every time. The War Department, he declared, had conducted ex-

24 MORE DRAFT EVADERS REACH AYER CAMP

All Except a Turk Given Chance to Make Good in the Depot Brigade

By WILLIAM FLYNN.

Camp Devens, Ayer, April 12.—Twenty-four more draft evaders were entered on the cantonment roster here today. Eleven men were brought here from Boston by Federal authorities, and the other thirteen came here from Providence, R. I., in the custody of operatives of a private detective agency, who collected $700 for the trouble.

All of the evaders were listed as deserters, but twenty-three of them were assigned to companies in the depot brigade and given another chance to become good soldiers. The other man, a Turk, was locked up in the depot brigade guard house pending a final disposition of his case.

It was said here today that ignorance of the draft regulations was responsible for the tardy appearance of the men in most of the cases. More than 300 draft evaders have been brought to this cantonment since its opening last September.

The first death among the colored draftees who came here from the South was announced today. Elmer Campbell of Archer, Fla., a member of the 32d Company of the Depot Brigade, died at the base hospital of pneumonia. He was admitted to the hospital on April 8 and had failed to take out war risk insurance.

Owing to the numerous brush fires that have kept the soldiers on the jump to save the cantonment buildings from being destroyed, visitors have been requested to be careful in discarding lighted cigar and cigarette stubs and burning matches.

The snowstorm which struck camp today eliminated any immediate danger from this source and also called a temporary halt to the outdoor training of the soldiers in the cantonment.

A demonstration of bayonet charging with and without gas masks by members of the division bayonet schools is to be staged on the bayonet assault course back of the base hospital Monday afternoon for the benefit of the Hearst-Pathe moving picture weekly.

'L' CONTROL BILL INTRODUCED IN HOUSE

Referred to Ways and Means Committee, Which Will Hold Public Hearings Next Week

The bill for public control of the Boston Elevated Railway was introduced today in the House and immediately referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, which will hold a series of public hearings next week.

In the House the bill will be in charge of Representative Frederick J. Brown of Woburn and Representative George M. Worrall of Attleboro, chairmen, respectively, of the committees on Metropolitan Affairs and Street Railways.

Though the bill is called the work of this joint committee, its authorship is freely attributed to Senator James E. MacPherson, chairman of the Senate Committee on Street Railways. He has done more than any other one man to whip it into its present shape, Representatives declare.

Representative George L. Baldwin of Brookline today explained the misunderstanding in relation to the ten-year termination clause. He said the bill provides that public control shall be continued after that time by action of the Legislature, or terminated sooner if its results are unsatisfactory.

It cannot, however, be terminated until two years after the passage of any law to this effect. Four of the joint committee of thirty members dissented, but filed no report in objection to the bill. They are Representatives J. L. Donovan, Philip J. Linberg, and Frank J. Burke of Boston and Ralph M. Butterworth of Revere.

SEVEN INJURED AT THREE-ALARM BLAZE

Seven firemen were injured early today at a three-alarm fire which started from an unknown cause on the first floor of the three-story brick building at No. 241 to No. 249 Friend street.

Four of the men, including Captain Henry J. Powers of Engine 8, were buried under a pile of debris when the roof of the building collapsed. All were rescued. The men are William O. Keenan, East Boston, Michael J. Aylward, Mark Skiffington and the captain. All but Aylward are at the Relief Hospital. Keenan is suffering from inhalation of smoke. The captain is badly cut and bruised about the arms and chest, and is also suffering from inhalation of smoke. Skiffington is suffering from a badly cut left hand. George Hamilton and William Lydon were also slightly injured, as was John O'Donnell of Protective Company 1.

PRIVATE PARKS, WOUNDED, LIVED IN GLOUCESTER

Private J. Lester Parks, whose name appeared in the latest list of wounded from France, was employed in a Wakefield store before entering the service, and made his home at the Y. M. C. A. He was a member of the Headquarters Company, 104th Infantry, to which he was transferred from Company G of the old Eighth Massachusetts. Parks enlisted in Company G, which is a Gloucester outfit. His mother resides at No. 125 Maplewood street, Gloucester.

HOPE FOR COMPROMISE IN LAMPLIGHTERS' STRIKE

A possible compromise, by which about one-third of the striking lamplighters will be put back to work, and the remainder to be placed in various city departments, from where they were originally taken, is in sight. The men are striking for $3 a day. They now receive $2.

27 MILLIONS IN BUDGET SENT IN BY MAYOR

Peters Calls for Heaviest Appropriations in the History of the City

The municipal budget, calling for $27,028,019.23, the largest in the history of the city, was today presented to the City Council by Mayor Peters. Last year's budget called for $[illegible]666,787.19.

Despite the increased revenue as a result of appropriations, also the new tax limit, the Mayor was obliged to cut the budget by $1,500,000.

In submitting the budget the Mayor says:

"The tax limit of $6.52 on the thousand, for general municipal purposes, has been raised by legislation recently enacted to $9.52 per thousand, which includes $1 on the thousand that may be specifically appropriated for the reconstruction and repair of streets.

The amount that can be raised by taxes within the $9.52 limit is $14,676,009.25, to which the estimated income of $4,858,000 should be added, making a total available for general municipal purposes of $19,534,009.25.

Of this total, the yield of the $1 on the thousand, which may be applied to reconstruction and repair of streets by contract, is $1,241,527.61, and must for the present be deducted, as appropriations out of this amount will be deferred pending an investigation by a special committee as to the sum which it is wise and expedient to use for this purpose in the current year.

This leaves $17,994,411.64. Of this sum there has been appropriated already $270,500 for bridges and $95,000 for ferries, a total of $365,000, so that the total amount available for the budget herewith submitted is $17,628,911.64; and I recommend that this entire sum be appropriated."

City debt and county requirements bring the grand total up to $27,028,019.23.

OFFICER WHO FALLS OFF TANK SAVED FROM HURT

Lieutenant A. A. Gathemann, U. S. N., had a narrow escape from injury at the Charlestown Navy Yard today when he fell off the tank Britannia. He fell in the path of the moving machine and was in danger of being run down. The hasty work of the mechanician in charge of the tank in bringing it to a full stop saved him. The incident was witnessed by hundreds of employes of the yard.

The tank was there for a Liberty Loan rally. It was reviewed by Commandant William R. Rush, who paid his compliment to Captain Haig, in charge of the tank. The Marine Band furnished music. At least 8,500 persons were present.

A large number of girls from the supply department waved American flags and the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." All cheered the tank as it went through manoeuvres.

At the meeting which followed Lieutenant Gathemann made a patriotic address, declaring that he felt certain the employes of the yard would raise $240,000. He promised an armor banner if that amount is subscribed. He also promised to have one of the biggest flag raisings at the yard in honor of the occasion.

During the speechmaking employes paraded around the yard with Liberty Loan banners.

LEGISLATORS GIVEN THEIR PAY ON TIME

State Treasurer Charles L. Burrill "beat the legislators to it" today by having their pay ready before they departed home for the week-end. Channing H. Cox, Speaker of the House, announces to that body that he had been informed that any members who desired might obtain their salaries at the treasurer's office. This created a laugh, as some members who needed cash were unable to get it last month. At the time Speaker Cox was making this announcement the order of Representative Alvin E. Bliss defining the dates when members of the General Court shall receive their compensation was referred in the Senate to the joint committee on rules. The order is aimed at the State treasurer.

LIEUTENANT BUXTON WOUNDED IN FRANCE

A letter was received in Boston today announcing the wounding in France of Lieutenant William S. Buxton, Company D, 101st Engineers, formerly the First Corps Cadets. Lieutenant Buxton is the son of Asa L. D. Buxton of the firm of the Perry, Buxton, Doane Company, scrap iron and metals, No. 216 West First street, South Boston. The young man, whose wife died some time ago, made his home with his father at No. 400 Lincoln street, Worcester. No details were received as to the severity of the wound or when it was inflicted.

EXPLOSION DELAYS NEW RESTAURANT'S OPENING

New London, Ct., April 12.—The opening of New London's largest and finest restaurant in the Benjamin Block, State street, today was indefinitely postponed because a plumber went looking for a gas leak with a lighted candle. The terrific explosion which followed wrecked the entrance to the building and shattered the plate glass in fragments, pieces being hurled across the street. No one was injured.

FIFTY PER CENT. PROFIT MADE BY FISH PIER

Beardslee Says Company Paid $2,629,000 for Subsidiaries With $598,110 Capital

Net profits of 50 per cent. upon the investment were made by the Boston Fish Pier Company during 1917, according to the testimony of William H. Beardslee today at the hearing before an examiner in the district court.

This same company paid $2,629,000 for the fish companies absorbed, although their total capitalization was only $598,110, he said. The proprietors of these absorbed companies continued to receive salaries, $134,519 being paid out last year.

Mr. Beardslee stated that the total assets of the Boston Fish Pier Company amounted to $882,000. In addition to the large profit made, he said $188,261 had been charged off to the surplus account. He declared the company had only made 18 per cent. profit upon the cost of the fish.

The profits of the stock issued for good will showed a return equal to five times the yearly profits of each concern.

SAY COAL MEN ARE TRYING TO SQUEEZE U. S.

McAdoo Officials See Plot to Force Railroads to Pay More for Fuel

By International News Service.

Washington, April 12.—Charges that large coal interests are attempting to force the hand of the U. S. railway administration by compelling a higher price for its coal supply this year were made by representatives of Director General McAdoo today.

[illegible] McAdoo's office [illegible] besieged by a number of [illegible] coal interests, and [illegible] strong pressure [illegible] brought to bear to make [illegible] pay a much larger [illegible] than it would if it [illegible] on a real competitive basis.

The coal used by the railroads this year will approximate 130,000,000 tons. It was said in the placing of contracts for the fuel considerable difficulty will be experienced.

[illegible] is one of the [illegible] of the railway men. The preference has always been given [illegible] to the large coal companies that supply much of the coal used by the railroads. This preference consists of giving them the best rolling stock for the transportation of coal to various points.

Resolutions passed by State fuel administrators indicating a coal shortage unless railroads clear up congestion brought forth a reply from the railway administration that Director McAdoo is taking care of the situation.

An ulterior motive was discerned through the several veiled attacks upon the railway administration emanating from States and fuel administrators.

It was hinted today that a falling off in coal production, which is really the alarming situation, according to officials, will hardly be remedied unless the campaign of education now under way receives more support by coal consumers immediately placing orders.

FRANKLIN TO RAISE MONEY FOR CAMP BASEBALL

of Selectmen, Charles B. Tupper chairman, suggested, and it was unanimously voted, to ask the members of the fire department to co-operate with the Selectmen in giving a ball in the interest of this movement. Selectmen Whiting and Cody joined with the chairman, and the chief of the fire department, Ernest E. Metcalf, formally brought the matter to the attention of the men of his force.

A most enthusiastic response was forthcoming, with the result that plans for the dance are already under way. The ball is to be given in the Franklin Town Hall on Tuesday evening, April 16. Slavin's orchestra of Norwood has been secured, and members of the department are now selling tickets for the affair.

It is hoped that many other towns will follow Franklin's lead and keep the fund rolling.

Mayor Joseph H. Gainer of Providence, R. I., an enthusiastic baseball fan who has sent his personal check to the fund, is a booster for the scheme.

While the fund is mounting day by day, it is still a long way to the goal and more money will be needed. Every dollar subscribed to this fund is a dollar spent for clean, healthy outdoor sport for our men at Camp Devens. It insures them a place where they can play ball, give athletic contests with outside teams and it will also furnish a grandstand from which relatives and friends of soldiers will be able to witness military reviews and parades, for the stand is to be built alongside the parade ground on which the diamond will be laid out.

TODAY'S LIST.

The government, through Major General Hodges, has given the land. Now it is up to the people of New England to build the stand. It ought to be one of the easiest things in the world to get the small amount necessary.

HOW TO SEND MONEY.

A word as to the right way to make your contributions to this fund.

DO NOT MAKE ANY CHECKS FOR THE FUND PAYABLE TO THE BOSTON AMERICAN. MAKE ALL CHECKS PAYABLE TO ROBERT C. DEMING, TREASURER, WHO IS IN CHARGE OF THE FUND. THE AMERICAN IS ACTING SIMPLY AS A TRANSFER AGENT.

Contributions to the Boston AMERICAN Camp Devens Baseball Fund will be received by this paper for transfer to Lieutenant Deming, or if contributors prefer, they may send their contributions direct to Lieutenant Robert C. Deming, Treasurer Boston AMERICAN Camp Devens Baseball Fund, at Camp Devens.

Every contribution, whether received by the Boston AMERICAN or received by Lieutenant Deming, will be acknowledged in the columns of the Boston AMERICAN.

Providence Mayor Booster for Devens Baseball Fund

By MAYOR JOSEPH H. GAINER of Providence, R. I.

ABSOLUTELY count me in on the Boston AMERICAN Camp Devens Baseball Fund. You mustn't forget that Providence has contributed a great many players to the national game. And you don't want to forget that this is the place where baseball players are made. We have some of them up to Ayer and when they get busy with the bat this year people will realize that Providence is right on the map.

I think the Boston AMERICAN has got decidedly the right idea. Anything that makes for the welfare of soldiers is great stuff, but a thing that helps them physically and provides sport at the same time is the best of all. I'm a booster for the scheme and a booster for the Boston AMERICAN for suggesting it.

WHAT THEY THINK.

Following are some of the letters sent in to the Boston AMERICAN, which show how favorably the idea is being received in New England:

MAYOR MOISE VERETTE, Manchester, N. H.:

I think the plan started by the Boston AMERICAN to provide the soldier boys with baseball material is an excellent idea. No one doubts but what they see enough of the serious part of life and why not furnish them with the material for wholesome amusement? The idea is certainly a fine one, and I know New England will respond handsomely to the suggestion of the AMERICAN.

DANIEL T. O'CONNELL, Lawyer, Boston:

It certainly is inspiring to read the columns of the Boston AMERICAN and see the number of men that are contributing towards the athletic field fund at Camp Devens, Ayer. No more greater patriotic measure could be subscribed to than that urged by the Boston AMERICAN, and I feel confident that it will be a huge success.

J. FRANK DOHERTY, Dorchester:

A suitable baseball diamond for the boys at Camp Devens, Ayer, is a great idea originated by a great Boston paper. We can not do any too much for the comforts of the lads that are preparing to do so much for us.

HENRY M. CAREY, of Dedham's Planning Board: The movement started by the Boston AMERICAN to erect a base ball stand at Camp Devens should be supported by every fan in the State, and the grand stand should be in shape when the season opens, April 19th.

ATTORNEY JOHN P. FINN: I am heartily in favor of the Camp Devens fund started by the Boston AMERICAN. Every public spirited citizen should contribute at once to complete the work as soon as possible.

THOMAS F. LAVIN, No. 5 Denton Terrace, Roslindale: A grandstand is badly needed at Camp Devens, and when finished will be greatly appreciated by the young men.

WILLIAM C. MAGUIRE, clerk of the East Boston Court:

I am happy to contribute to the Boston AMERICAN'S Baseball Fund for the boys at Camp Devens. It is a splendid move and should have the hearty co-operation of every true American. The Boston AMERICAN is to be congratulated, for the paper is certainly working for the interests of the boys.

ROY F. LEACH, assistant clerk of the public utilities commission of Maine:

The action of the Boston AMERICAN in starting a fund for the boys at Camp Devens is very commendable.

Brockton Fight Fans Give $31.21 Toward Devens Baseball Fund

The boxing colony again did its bit by the Camp Devens Baseball Fund. At the Farrington A. A. show at Brockton, last night, Promoter-Manager William Goodrich and Charley Deshler of Cambridge, manager of Walter Butler, Revere welterweight, who gained the decision over Mel Coogan, boxing instructor at the Newport navy yard, in the feature event, passed the "pans."

The Brockton fans responded liberally, and the fund was swelled to the extent of $31.31. This will be sent Lieutenant Deming for official tabulation.

WOMEN'S FOULARD DRESSES

The pretty dress sketched is $25.

IT is foulard combined with plain Georgette crepe. It is this co-operation of Georgette crepe that makes foulard look so absolutely new.

The women's shop has foulard dresses of excellent quality beginning at $15. Indeed, as for quality, no better is sold generally at three times the price.

RICHARDS WILL CANNOT STAND, COURT RULES

Judge White Refuses to Set Aside Verdict Which Threw Out Realty Man's Testament

Judge White of the Superior Court has denied a motion of the executors of the will of Edward E. Richards, a Boston real estate dealer, to set aside a verdict of the jury which broke the will on the ground that it was procured through the undue influence of Sally D. Richards, the widow, and Miss Mary E. Fallon, who for many years was bookkeeper for Mr. Richards at his State street office.

The will was contested by Mrs. Gladys D. Brackett of Seaver street, Roxbury, and Mrs. Bertha E. Porter of Winthrop, wife of Dr. William Porter, daughters of Mr. Richards by his first wife. In their behalf evidence was offered to show that Mr. Richards had repeatedly declared that he had no intention of making a will, as the laws of Massachusetts provided for a just distribution of property.

Mr. Richards, when he married Sally Dunbar on January 10, 1911, was 61 years of age and she 21. He made his will in 1915 and died in the year following. Under the will Mrs. Brackett and Mrs. Porter each were to receive an annuity of $600 and Mrs. Richards, the widow, was to have the benefit of the larger share of the property. At the time the will was executed Mr. Richards believed he was worth from $250,000 to $275,000, but a special administrator appointed by the probate court valued the estate at about $75,000.

Unless the Supreme Court should sustain exceptions taken by the executors, the property of Mr. Richards will be divided as though he had died intestate. His widow would be entitled to one-third and a girl now five or six years old would be entitled to a share. Mrs. Brackett and Mrs. Porter would get the balance.

STILES EXPLAINS WHY PARODY WAS CUT

Tenor Answers Gossip Arising Out of His Resignation at Camp Devens

Vernon Stiles, opera tenor, is in Boston on special assignment by the United States Army to speak for the Liberty Loan. He was recently choir master at Camp Devens and resigned because work in the open air was ruining his voice and the strain was undermining his health. He was surprised to hear reports that he had been in trouble with officials at Camp Devens and he has asked the AMERICAN to print the facts.

The charges were that he had written an unpatriotic parody, that he hadn't paid his stenographer, and that he tried to use his position to make money through graphophone contracts.

Mr. Stiles says:

"Regarding the fuss at Camp Devens, I had none. My relations in camp are most pleasant. The parody ran as follows:

"It's a hard job to lick the Kaiser,
Its a hard thing to do,
It's a hard job to lick the Kaiser,
And the Allies know it, too.
Goodby, little Belgium,
France and England, too.
There's only one can lick the Kaiser,
That's the Red White and Blue.

"I didn't consider this unpatriotic. I believe with Lloyd George that 'only with America can we win.' It was sung without comment at the camp, until French and British officers visited us, when it was discontinued, because it might possibly offend them. The same colonel who gave me permission to have it sung asked me to discontinue it.

"The graphophone story arose because I wished a record made with picked singers from each regiment to stimulate mob singing. The graphophone company offered to make these records free of charge. There was no profit for me or anybody else.

"I wish to state that I have offered my services to the government for the duration of the war free of salary and title, and am ready to obey orders in any capacity. In the next four weeks I have been directed to speak for the Liberty Loan in New England.

"I gave all I had while I was in camp to the boys in energy in voice and did everything I could do to make them happy. I loved them all, and—thank God—they loved me."

TWO GENERALS IN ARMY HONORABLY DISCHARGED

Washington, April 12.—Brigadier-General Roger D. Williams and Brigadier General James W. Lester have been honorably discharged by direction of the President, the War Department announces. They were recently examined by a board of officers and found to be physically disqualified.

General Williams commanded the 75th brigade of the 38th division at Camp Shelby, Hattiesbur, Miss., while General Lester was in command of a brigade of the 27th division, composed of New York National Guard troops.

From the blood all the solid tissues take their food and oxygen. Unless the blood is put in a healthy condition it affects the entire body. If you have dry, rough skin, pimples on the face, swollen tonsils, sore throat; if the joints become swollen and stiff; if you have catarrh and feel all stuffed up; if you cannot eat right, think right or work right, don't delay; get Brown's Blood Treatment; $2 a bottle; lasts about a month. TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Get a small bottle of Danderine at any drug store for a few cents, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.—Advertisement.

BREAK A CHILD'S COLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS

Look, Mother! Is tongue coated, breath feverish and stomach sour?

Cleanse the little liver and bowels and they get well quickly.

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait; give the little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs," to evacuate the bowels, no difference what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy, because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

Teach Children to Use Cuticura Soap

Because it is best for their tender skins. Help it now and then with touches of Cuticura Ointment applied to first signs of redness, roughness, pimples or dandruff. If mothers would only use these super-creamy emollients for every-day toilet purposes how much suffering might be avoided by preventing little skin and scalp troubles becoming serious.

Sample Each Free by Mail. Address postcard: "Cuticura, Dept. 12A, Boston." Sold everywhere. Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c.

RED-HOT SPORT NEWS IN BASE BALL EXTRA

You Get It the Day It Happens, Dished Up by American Staff Writers

We gave our fellow-writers
A short and simple task,
A word to rhyme with "Extra,"
It wasn't much to ask.
We put it up to the poet
And others on the staff,
But all we got for answer
Was the rude and raucous laugh.
But lack of rhyme for "Extra"
Will never interfere
With the BASEBALL EXTRA being
The sporting treat this year.
—City Room Carols.

Attention, sport followers of Boston and New England.

No waiting until the next morning to get your results of baseball games and other sporting events.

The Boston AMERICAN is to issue a great BASEBALL EXTRA, beginning next Monday. That's when the Big League baseball season opens.

The BASEBALL EXTRA will give you the complete sporting news of the day on the day it happens. Quick returns, what! Hot off the sporting griddle.

Consider the list of reporters and feature writers who will help fill this sporting edition:

Hugh S. Fullerton and "Nick" Flatley on baseball.

Corbett on boxing. Collyer on turf news.

James P. Murphy on boxing and cycling.

Jack Velock and H. W. Lanigan on general sports, with J. B. Gillooly, Sporting Editor of the AMERICAN marshalling their reports in best array.

The BASEBALL EXTRA will cost two cents. The regular editions of the AMERICAN will remain at one cent as usual.

ARCHBISHOP LANG GETS HONOR DEGREE

New York, April 12.—The most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, archbishop of York, received the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, at Columbia University. The archbishop and his chaplain were escorted to the university by Bishop David H. Greer and Professor Henry Bedlinger Mitchell, where the ceremony was carried out. This was followed by the signing of the university roll by the prelate. Following the bestowal of the degree the archbishop delivered an address in St. Paul's Chapel.

Jury Disagrees and Toney Will Pitch for the Reds

Cincinnati, O., April 12.—Fred Toney will pitch for the Cincinnati Reds this season. The jury before which he was tried on charges of making false statements in his draft questionnaire disagreed. Another indictment against him was returned today on a charge of violating the Mann act. He was released on bonds. His trial will come up in September.

WALTHAM CITIZENS WILL OPPOSE CAR ZONE PLAN

Waltham people will oppose the suggested zone system of car fares which has been proposed for the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway. Other cities served by the company are urging this plan, but business men in Waltham feel that the establishment of the arrangement would keep considerable business away from their city.

FLOOD OF NEW ENGLAND CASH FOR LIBERTY LOAN

Leaders in Bond Drive, However, Warn Workers Against Overconfidence.

of the first three days showed $15,000,000 a day, the inclusion of the fourth day report has brought the average sharply down to $12,900,000 and a proportionate falling off for the rest of the week would rapidly and materially affect the total result as carried through the month.

The City of Boston total for the four days of the campaign is $14,847,980, or an increase of only $622,860.

MORE TRADE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The Boston Trades Committee reports $197,000 addition from the Cotton Trade.

The Shoe and Leather Trade total, in which the subscription of the United Shoe Machinery of $1,000,000 is noted, is $1,120,000. This includes $100,000 from T. G. Plant & Co.

The Boston Real Estate Exchange reports $40,000 additional. Willett, Sears & Company, 221 subscriptions, $[illegible]; Automobile, $8,650 additional; lumber, $12,700 additional; Edison Electric Illuminating Company, 184 subscriptions, $14,950; Boston Y. M. C. A. 21 subscriptions, $8,400; Architects, $12,050; Coal Trade, additional, $1,450.

The Engineers' Association of Boston turned in 41 subscriptions, amounting to $12,150.

The New England Insurance Exchange reports $4,200, from forty-four subscribers.

The store trade team operating from Raymond's report $8,250, including $1,650 from A. H. Howe & Sons.

HONOR FLAGS FOR 88.

Nine more towns in New England notified the committee today that they were entitled to Honor Flags. These were, with their quotas: In New Hampshire, Mount Vernon, $10,700; Milton, $26,000; Wentworth, $6,200; Grafton, $9,000.

In Connecticut—East Granby, $12,500.

In Massachusetts—Sterling, $15,000.

In Maine—Falmouth, $31,400; Aurora, $1,000.

In Vermont—Milton, $14,500.

This makes, in all, 88 towns which have reported over-subscription, and four whose over-subscription was reported by the Federal Reserve Bank, but not reported to the Flag Committee.

The Honor Flag Committee of the Liberty Loan Committee of New England received official word this morning from the Treasury Department confirming the award to Lynn of a National Honor Flag.

Lynn wins the first honor flag for cities between 50,000 and 100,000 population, which is the third of the six classifications set up in the national honor flag competition, the first being communities up to 25,000, second from 25,000 to 50,000, third 50,000 to 100,000, fourth 100,000 to 250,000, fifth 250,000 to 500,000, sixth from 500,000 up.

WINS TRIPLE HONOR.

Hundreds of communities are tied in Washington in the first class, but Lynn stands alone in its own class as having gone over first in the country, in this group, and has the right to expect that its flag will be unfurled by Secretary of the Treasury some time during the coming month, very likely on the occasion of his visit to Boston the last week of the campaign.

The Honor Flag Committee of Massachusetts has decided to adopt similar classification for priority of place on the State Honor Flag. This would give Lynn position in Class 3 on the Massachusetts State Flag. Thus with the flag it wins for oversubscribing the quota it has secured a triple honor by its prompt and striking action in getting subscriptions over its quota of $2,327,600 at the moment the Third Loan opened.

$278,750 in 15 Minutes for Liberty Loan Record of Chamber of Commerce

Subscriptions of $278,750 were received within fifteen minutes after the first call at a monster Liberty Loan rally held in the trading room of the Boston Chamber of Commerce under the auspices of the grain board of the chamber. The entire personnel of the hay, grain, flour and feed offices composing the grain board, and hundreds of other members of the chamber were present at the rally.

A preliminary rally held in front of the Chamber of Commerce building was featured by the arrival of the tank Britannia accompanied by 200 recruits to the Jewish Palestine regiment. Bluejacket Billy Burns of the receiving ship at Commonwealth Pier was the speaker at the outdoor meeting and exhorted his audience to purchase bonds rather than be placed in bonds furnished by the Kaiser.

The rally in the trading room was presided over by former President of the Chamber Charles F. Weed.

FACE DIRE CALAMITY.

Private Herbert Parker of the Clinton Home Guard spoke at the indoor rally. Private Parker is a former attorney-general for Massachusetts.

"The world is now facing the direst calamity which ever confronted civilization," he said, "and we must take counsel together, not in a spirit of panic, but to stop this cataclysm of abomination which seeks to destroy us. The hour has struck for service and sacrifice. Crystal clear words have been spoken by the President for all the people and it is now time to translate into action the promises made to our allies."

Brigadier - General William A. White, C. B., C. M. G., head of the British Recruiting Mission in America, who was one of the "contemptible little army" which stopped the Germans at Ypres in 1914, spoke in praise of the policies of Lloyd George regarding the building up of the man power of Britain.

"The situation is now very grave," he said. "It is not a time for pessimism, however, and everyone must do his utmost. The drive which the Germans are now making is the culminating effort of the Hun. If he is stopped now he loses the war. The only way we can stop him is for every man and every woman to get into this war personally and render personal services."

NO SIGN OF END IN SIGHT.

The first two Liberty Loan campaigns were in the nature of preparedness, according to Captain Ralph C. Harrison, provost marshal of Boston.

"We are now in the war—though in a small way—and the third loan is necessary in order to support and maintain the men over there. It is necessary in order to keep down the casualty list."

The entry of America into the war was characterized by Major James Smythe, dean of McGill University, Canada, as the most magnanimous event in the history of the world.

"I cannot tell you what it meant to those men who had been fighting during the long years before that entry. The Hun realises that this is a fight to a finish and he will stop at nothing. No sign of the end is yet in sight."

Money to buy "steel and lead for the boys to kill Germans with" was appealed for by Lieutenant O. B. Jones of the Black Watch.

"They are ready to jump over the parapet for you and face death at a moment's notice," he said. "German bullets do not bear the four and a quarter per cent. interest Liberty Bonds do."

Judge Michael J. Murray presided during the solicitation for subscriptions.

Flag Service at the Loan Rallies on Common Tonight

Liberty Bond Rallies tonight at Liberty Barracks on the Common will be preceded by an "Honors to the Flag" ceremony by a detail of United States marines with bugler from the navy yard, at 7:30 and again at 9:45 o'clock.

Another feature will be the Liberty Loan motion picture, "Swat the Kaiser," which has been secured by the New England Liberty Loan committee and distributed throughout New England.

Over $21,000 Now in Harvard Drive for Liberty Loan

Harvard's Liberty drive has taken a big jump, mounting to $21,650 for the four days' campaign. The Harvard contributions were given a big boost when the faculty members announced that their subscription to date had reached $13,500.

Yale, with three days' campaign concluded, still leads with $26,600, $930 being collected yesterday. Princeton's four-day campaign has brought her $2,950, yesterday's collections reaching only $300.

At Harvard the freshmen have turned in $2,100 and yesterday the upper classes handed over $2,850.

$100 a Minute for Loan at Women's Booth at the Copley-Plaza

Three thousand dollars' worth of Liberty Bonds is going some for half an hour. But that is the rate at which business is being done at the Copley-Plaza, and the committee in charge of the booth there expects that the same rate will continue during the days to come.

Mrs. Charles H. Taylor Jr. of the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee is in charge of the group of ladies who are doing this whirlwind business for the Liberty Loan. Today Mrs. Walbridge Taft, Mrs. Alexander Grant and Miss Charlotte Duncan were her helpers.

The first bond, and a large one, was taken by the Baron de Stackelberg of Syosset, Long Island.

LIEUT. PAT O'BRIEN TO SELL BONDS AT FILENE'S

Liberty Bonds will be sold in the Filene restaurant and on their sixth floor Saturday afternoon by Lieutenant Pat O'Brien, formerly of the British Royal Flying Corps.

He will appear on the sixth floor at 3 o'clock, and at afternoon tea in the restaurant at 4 o'clock. He hopes to sell $1,000,000 worth of bonds throughout the East. He was captured by the Germans after a fall, and managed to escape. He has written a book which will be on sale. He will autograph every copy sold. Later in the evening at Tremont Temple he will tell of his experiences.

The aviator saw a year of service in the Royal Flying Corps. He is a successful bond salesman. It is said that he once sold $10,000 worth of bonds in fifteen minutes.

Loan Sidelights

Gloucester Women's Liberty Loan score for the fifth day of the drive is $26,250, or a total to date of $1,222,210.

Florida, a little town on Hoosac Mountain in the western part of the State, with a population of less than 500, through its energetic chairman of the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee, Miss Ruth Lockhart, reports to date ten subscriptions, amounting to $650, more than one-fifth of the town's quota.

* * *

Mrs. W. G. Farlow, chairman for Cambridge, has to the credit of the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee, for three days' work, thirty-three subscriptions, totaling $21,000.

* * *

"We thank you for giving us your Woman's Liberty Loan Committee to help us," is the word that comes to Mrs. Barrett Wendell, State chairman, from Mr. C. W. Waldron, chairman of the Brimfield men's committee. Mr. Waldron gallantly suggested to Mrs. Bertie A. Barnes, who is the chairman of the women's committee, that she turn in daily totals for Brimfield to the credit of the women, as it was their work, more than that of the men, which brought results.

* * *

Mrs. Homer Gage, who leads the Women's Liberty Loan Committee in Worcester has a three days' record which goes to the top of the column. On April 6, 8 and 10, her committee sold $264,200 of Liberty Bonds to 329 subscribers. Exact figures for Tuesday, when for two hours the women sold bonds from the British war tank Britannia, are $12,450, making a total of $276,650.

* * *

Forty-one subscribers and $6,900 in Liberty Bonds is the Easthampton's Woman's Committee, Mrs. Clara P. Bruche, chairman, record for April 8 and 9.

* * *

Mrs. William A. Driver, Jr., chairman for Milton has to the credit of her committee for April 10, $32,000 in four subscriptions, and $1,800 the following day.

* * *

Twenty-one subscribers in West Stockbridge took $7,250 in Liberty Bonds from its women's committee, Mrs. J. L. McDermott, chairman.

* * *

The Woman's Liberty Loan Committee for Lawrence, Mrs. Malcolm M. Peabody, chairman, began its work on Thursday, two canvassers securing $1,950 in thirteen subscriptions.

* * *

Automobile windshields in red, white and blue, urging the buying of Liberty Bonds, may be obtained by motorists at any garage, or may be secured by writing to, or calling at, Liberty Loan Headquarters, 30 Kilby street.

Among the large subscriptions reported are: The George William Bentley Company, $25,000; Joseph B. Russell, $30,000; Goldman, Sach Company, Boston office, $50,000.

The exhibition of picture posters by eminent Boston artists at the former Bacon store, corner Washington and Essex streets, is drawing thousands of visitors. These poster paintings all bear on the danger which the United States is confronting if Germany wins the war, and point out in their brilliant color and striking drawing what the Liberty Bonds guarantee for the country and its people.

$330,000 LIBERTY BONDS TAKEN BY FLOUR TRADE

The Flour and Grain Trades Committee of the Chamber of Commerce had secured at noon $52,000 subscriptions for the Liberty loan in addition to the amount raised at the big noon rally of Thursday, making a total to date of $330,900. This trade starting on the second loan with $175,000 of subscriptions at its rally, secured $2,000,000 in all when the loan closed. With such a flying start on the third loan, the members hope to break their previous record.

DENSE SNOW FOLLOWS NEW YORK SLEET STORM

New York, April 12.—After a night of gales and fitful snow flurries, during which much damage was done along the shore in the Coney Island district, New York was hit by a midwinter snow today so dense as to make buildings and streets invisible at a distance of two blocks or less. Immense flakes were whirled in sheets about the tall buildings and descended in streets already covered by half an inch or more of sleet. Sheepshead Bay reported many small craft swept from their moorings and wrecked during the night.

VAST STORE OF FOOD VALUE IN FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Scientific Tests Prove That It Is
6 Times More Nourishing Than Milk
7½ " " " " Oysters
2½ " " " " Steak
5 " " " " Codfish

That Father John's Medicine contains a vast store of food value and strength-building, energy-producing elements is established by recent scientific tests. This rich nourishment is in a form which is more easily taken up by the system than the common foods we eat and has many times greater food value.

Father John's Medicine is six times more nourishing than pure milk; it contains two and one-half times as much nourishment as an equal quantity of beef steak. Father John's Medicine is seven and one-half times more nourishing than an equal quantity of oysters and five times more nourishing than codfish.

These scientific tests made by expert chemists prove beyond question the very great food value of this old-fashioned, pure, wholesome medicine for colds, coughs and body-building. Because it supplies the nourishment which you do not obtain from your food and supplies it in the form which the system most easily takes up and turns into tissue, muscle, flesh and strength, Father John's Medicine has had more than sixty years of success as a food tonic for those who are weak and run down.

In our daily lives we burn up a certain amount of energy or tissue and we must have a nourishing food-tissue builder to make good this daily wear and tear on the system. While the food we eat is changed into this tissue or energy if the digestive system is in healthy condition; when we become weakened, over-tired or run-down we do not get the required amount of nourishment from our food, and it is at such a time that the wonderful strength-building tissue-forming elements of Father John's Medicine prove their greatest value.

It is guaranteed that Father John's Medicine positively does not contain any alcohol or any dangerous, habit-forming drugs or opiates. It is a pure and wholesome, nourishing tonic food—a doctor's prescription, not a patent medicine. Begin taking it today.

BABY PRAYS FOR LOST FATHER TO RETURN

Somerville Man Vanishes, Leaving Wife and Four Children in Want

By CONSTANCE WILLIAMS.

The smallest is just a wiggling little piece of humanity.

Out in Somerville, in a cheerless house, are four little children, longing in their baby way for their daddy. Everything has gone to pay for a bare living. There is a stove and a bed left in the house.

There is also a mother, whose stoical smiles almost hides the grief which she feels as the baby mouths lisp at her. "Where is daddy?"

She must each time reply that she does not know and comfort them with the thought that he will soon return.

Six years ago Fred Duffina and his young wife came up to Boston from Maine. They settled here, Mr. Duffina securing good wages as a teamster.

Soon they had a little daughter. Since that time three more little children have joined the Duffina home circle. The oldest is four-year old Virginia, then Francis who is three, Joseph aged one, and little Ralph, who is seven months.

Everything went nicely. The Duffinas had a comfortable home, and the children were healthy and happy.

Then in December Mr. Duffina changed his occupation and went to work on steamers. They did not give employment regularly. Some weeks he would make $30 and other weeks nothing.

REACHES THE CRISIS.

Things went from bad to worse. Finally on Thursday, April 4, bills had piled up and the father lost heart.

"What are we going to do. We must do something at once," exclaimed the mother.

"I'll go out and try to get a team," answered the father.

"What if you don't?" demanded the mother.

"Then I will jump in the Charles River," answered the father, and tenderly kissing each one of his children good-bye he left the house.

This is the tragic narrative made by Mrs. Fred Duffina, No. 3 Royce place, Somerville, concerning the mysterious disappearance of her husband.

She then told of how her husband called up the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

APPEALS TO CHARITY.

"He called them up that Thursday afternoon," said Mrs. Duffina. "He told them that he was a man who knew of four children at this address, and that they did not have food or money."

Mrs. Duffina pointed to the two articles of furniture which are now the worldly possessions of the Duffinas—a stove and a bed, and a baby buggy.

"Then the Associated Charities came," continued Mrs. Duffina, "and I notified the police. The neighbors have also been very kind to me.

"I can't understand why he doesn't come back," wearily sighed Mrs. Duffina. "He either has done away with himself because of despondency or he has gone to find work somewhere else. No doubt he thinks some society will care for the children, and that I can take care of myself."

PILOT URGES ALL TO HELP ON THIRD LOAN

A vigorous endorsement of the third Liberty Loan forms the editorial leader in the current issue of the Pilot, the official organ of the Catholic archdiocese of Boston. The editorial emphasizes the need of sacrifice at this time. It urges all persons to buy, even if one is not able to take a large quantity of the bonds. On this point it adds:

"Our liberality should be measured by our financial ability. Every individual and every home throughout the land should actively participate. The banking houses of America have generously placed their offices at the disposal of the government. They are willing to help the small subscriber. No cause to slacken at this time can be found."

These days is he who can solve the house furnishing problem.

WARNS SOLDIERS OF SCHEMING WOMEN

Some "Wives" Drawing as Many as Five Allotments, Government Discovers

By MARIE DUNBAR.

The war has no mercy on romance. It ruthlessly shatters the ideals of romantic [illegible] and quickly erases former types.

First the [illegible] society girl became a [illegible] of yesterday [illegible] [illegible] of war work and even covered [illegible] [illegible] and industrial [illegible].

Then along comes Representative Greenwood, prepared to eliminate the "[illegible] class" by passing a law forcing all able-bodied men to work.

And now it is the passing of the ideal proposal with moonlight and everything. No longer can the unsuspecting soldier ever whisper [illegible] to the only girl in the world [illegible] "Will you be my wife?"

[illegible] romance being [illegible] overwhelming love and [illegible] demand, "Do you love me or [illegible]? Are you at the present [illegible] war bride of any other soldier?"

Can you blame Romance for feeling hurt, picking up her belongings and leaving?

ORDERS OFFICERS TO WARN MEN.

The cause of all this precaution on the part of the soldiers is due to the fact that the government has issued orders to the officers at the national cantonment at Camp Devens to warn their men against "questionable women."

The government has discovered that some war widows are receiving as many as five allotments from five different soldier husbands. These same women make it their business to travel from one cantonment to another, marrying a soldier at each camp. Some of the more bold have even married two soldiers at one cantonment.

Each time the scheming bride rushes from the altar with an allotment slip clasped in her hand. The soldier-husband departs for "over there" with cherished memories of the little girl he left behind him and the Government pays one more allotment to a woman who perhaps is already drawing two or three.

WORSE THAN PARASITES.

"Do I think they are parasites?" exclaimed Mrs. Pauline Love, No. 1[illegible] Bay State road, when I interviewed her. "I think that a woman who would practice such things as these is nothing better than a thief. She is most assuredly a traitor and guilty of a traitorous act."

Mrs. Love is chairman of the Y. M. C. A. entertainment committee for Camp Devens. [illegible] endeared herself to the soldiers by her untiring work in bringing entertainment of the [illegible] class. When questioned as to what she considered the remedy which would at once halt the work of these women, Mrs. Love continued:

"It is just the old, old story over and over. The artful woman duping the unsuspecting man. I think most of the soldiers should use all their good judgment and not plunge into matrimony hastily. Women are very clever actresses and the more clever they are the more easily the soldiers will walk to the altar.

WARNS OF FALSE SYMPATHY.

"I wish to say as a word of warning to the soldiers that they should not be fooled by sympathy. An overabundance of sympathy and interest should arouse a man's suspicions. I certainly think that these women should be considered with the highest degree of contempt.

"How can any woman be so brazen? When these boys are sacrificing so much, how can she see them going abroad to fight knowing that she has deliberately duped them and done them a great wrong? The only advice that I would give to the soldiers is to be careful, take matrimony seriously and to use common sense in judging women."

In the State of Washington, near Tacoma, is located the national cantonment, Camp Lewis. One woman discovered by the officials was drawing allotments from three husbands. This started an investigation which ended in the prosecution of the woman by the courts and government officials.

It is easy to see how Johnny Smith, aged about twenty-two, an unsophisticated country boy, may be drafted. He [illegible] the army cantonment. It is near a town or city. He meets a worldly wise woman who loses no time in setting down Johnny as an easy victim.

PROMISES ALLOTMENT.

Johnny soon dashes back to camp with the news that he has met the most wonderful girl in the world. He has promised to love, honor, respect, reverence, obey—and give his allotment to her.

Officers have been requested by the War Department to warn their men against "questionable women." The Government considers all women questionable who prey on the soldiers for the allotments through the medium of matrimony.

Just how hard a blow romance will receive has not been determined by the Soldier Man—his scepticism may lead to an open denouncement of matrimony.

He may change the idealistic proposal into a realistic one. He may even consult the War Department to see if Mary Jones is now drawing an allotment from any brother in arms, and—

Well, we're sincerely sorry, Dame Romance, but we fear that you are entirely crippled by the war.

FINDS MORE DOGS THAN ONE MAN COULD LOSE

Recently Attorney James M. Keyes of South Boston lost a valuable dog in a mysterious manner and the circumstances were published in the BOSTON AMERICAN.

To quote Mr. Keyes in describing the results of advertising: "There were men, women and children with large dogs, small ones, others with fat and skinny dogs, some were good and many looked as though they had been through the war."

From early morning until late at night it was a continual procession of dogs of all sorts and every person was sure that the dog they were attached to was the one Mr. Keyes lost. Anybody who mentions dog to "Jim" for the next few months will lose his friendship.

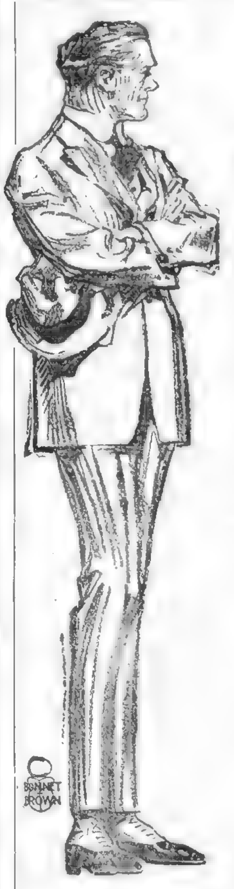
In Partnership With the Public



Virtually that's our position—partners with the public in the distribution of Good Clothes—sharing our advantages with our customers—working for our patrons as well as for ourselves. We mention briefly a few of the many features of this unique arrangement.

The price and quality advantages we derive through our eight-store, spot-cash buying do not go to fatten our own bank account, but to give our customers more value for their money. The same is true of the savings we make through having no charge accounts.

Likewise our insistence on Quality is not for our own good alone. We could make as much or more money on cheaper grades of clothing. But we know that only in Quality Goods will our partners, the public, find the satisfaction and the economy they want.

And on our side, the better values we give, the bigger our business grows. And [illegible] we prosper while still selling at less than other stores feel obliged to ask. That's the way our partnership with the public works advantageously to both sides.

The Quality, Styles and the Prices of

By HUGH S. FULLERTON

Right field, which is becoming increasingly important in baseball, presents a crop of players for this season slightly below the average, the decrease in quality being almost entirely due to lack of attacking strength.

The one big change comes right at the head of the American League array, with Harry Hooper, for years the [illegible] right fielder of the game, dropping to [illegible] place because of a slowing up in his hitting and base running. [illegible] in prowess [illegible] improvement [illegible] of Washington.

DETROIT TAKES SLUMP.

Detroit, too, slumps back, or rather is crowded back, for although Heilmann's hitting power might land him in the lead, the practical certainty that he will not occupy the southeast quarter-section of the lot this season more than half the time detracts from the position value of the team.

The [illegible] more than 100 points lie between first and last among American League right fielders [illegible] good all down the line, St. Louis and New York both showing improvement, with the chance of getting better work this season.

In the National League right field appears to be a sort of much uncertainty because of holdouts, the draft [illegible] strength [illegible] with New York [illegible] because [illegible] writing [illegible] Robertson's final [illegible]

BIG BOOST FOR REGH

Stallings sees outfield material and switches so frequently that the figures of all save center field are combinations of Rehg, Kelly, Wickland and Bailey, with Powell fixed in center.

[illegible] ago must [illegible] develop more attacking strength and it seems that such strength must be found in [illegible] who has not enough [illegible] The big chance to gain [illegible] seems to be Barber, a barber who came from Baltimore.

Barber hit 3.2 [illegible] number of two-baggers [illegible] is not very fast, but if he can hit [illegible] he ought to do better than 3.0 in the National, which would make him a rich find.

In the next article we will study the catchers, and from the figures at hand it is safe to promise some surprises.

RUNYON SAYS BRAVES WILL GET HERZOG

By DAMON RUNYON.

Of course, Charley Herzog will eventually report to the Boston Braves.

You know how those things turn out in baseball as well as we do.

However, it strikes a casual observer that in the various discussions of the case the fact is lost sight of that Herzog has certain rights which cannot in all fairness be denied him.

It is generally admitted that Herzog's contract with the Giants, which has another year to run, and which was sold to the Braves, carries the stipulation that the player must be consulted as to the club to which he is sold or traded.

This stipulation is Herzog's "ace in the hole" and he can scarcely be blamed for trying to do the best he can for himself. Baseball magnates have been known to set up the most terrific uproar when ball players disregarded any phases of their contracts, so the magnates should be [illegible] every letter of the agreements.

The [illegible] the National [illegible] Herzog to play with the Braves regardless of the [illegible] Herzog could [illegible] without losing his rights under his contract before [illegible]

Herzog probably realizes that his playing days are nearing an end, and he is naturally trying to drive as close a bargain as possible.

He has always been a good business man for a ball player. In fact, he rather prides himself on his shrewdness in that respect, and he has been a provident man. He will have plenty of money when he quits the ball field, and most of it probably comes from the pastime.

The fact that the New York ball club does not want Herzog, and does want Jess Barnes and Larry Doyle, cannot alter the stipulation in Herzog's contract.

Neither does the prospect of Herzog meeting with a chilly reception if he joins the Braves when the playing season opens change the situation.

Eventually he will go to the Braves, of course, and play for the Braves.

NINE AUTOS IN LINE TOWED BY CHALMERS

By C. F. DONNOCKER.

In these days of modern efficiency it takes some unusual "stunt" to test out the power of any automobile, and the Chalmers Motor Company of New England recently hit upon a novel scheme for showing the pulling power of the new six-thirty motor. A string of ten five-passenger cars were taken out on Commonwealth avenue and coupled together by means of tow ropes. The motor of the leading car was started and the entire caravan was carried along. The ten automobiles with the drivers, gasoline, etc., weighed approximately 20,000 pounds, yet the Chalmers "hot spot" motor pulled the load easily.

After this feat was accomplished, the last six cars were detached and the same automobile pulled the three remaining cars up Commonwealth avenue hill. This hill is the favorite demonstrating resort for cars of every class in greater Boston. It takes a smart automobile to climb the hill on high. It takes a most extraordinary automobile to pull three others over the hill.

While the surface of the hill is smooth, it is a gradual climb to the top, and the grade is exceedingly steep. When the tremendous strain which was placed upon the motor, clutch, bearings, rear axle parts, etc., is considered, the feat of the Chalmers seems all the more remarkable.

A small six-cylinder motor of only 3¼ bore by 4½ stroke pulled 20,000 pounds on the level and 12,000 pounds up the hill. In other words, a small power plant weighing in its entirety 700 pounds, which could be carried by three men, pulled a load up this hill which would have tested the capacity of two five-ton trucks.

After the tests were completed the chassis of the leading car was inspected and no evidence could be found of any strain or damage.

It goes to show conclusively that the Chalmers is built for years of faithful service.

MAYFLOWER FAVORITE NAME FOR OUR TROOPS

New Englanders are keenly interested in the selection of a popular name for the 76th Division now at Camp Devens. The troops comprising the division are largely from the New England States and suggestions are pouring in from all the seven States in the district.

"The Mayflower Division" seems to be a general favorite. Many favor "The Liberty Division" or "The Old Glory Division" as a title for the 76th.

Send your suggestion to the Popular Name Editor of the Boston AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer street, Boston.

The following are some of the suggestions received:

"MAYFLOWER DIVISION," Ruth Hale George, Wellesley.

"NORTH STAR DIVISION," Charles P. Emerson, Augusta, Me.

"TRUE BLUE DIVISION," William B. Reardon, Portland, Me.

"OLD GLORY DIVISION," Miss Hane Fitzgerald, Fitchburg.

"PRIDE OF NEW ENGLAND DIVISION," Mrs. Ernest J. Cahon, Maynard.

'BOSTON'S OWN' COMING HOME TO PARADE

Boys, With Three Bands, to Take Part in Big Celebration on Patriot's Day

By WILLIAM FLYNN.

Camp Devens, April 12.—It has been definitely decided that "Boston's Own" will parade in Boston on Patriot's Day, April 19. The final arrangements were completed at a meeting between Major General Harry F. Hodges, Brigadier General Johnston, commander of the Department of the Northeast, and Colonel Frank Tompkins, commander of "Boston's Own."

The entire regiment, accompanied by its band and those of the 301st and 302nd Field Artillery regiments, will leave here on a special train early in the morning of April 19 and be the guests of the people of Boston for the day.

This will be the first opportunity the residents of Boston have ever had of seeing their pet regiment of draftees parade outside of the cantonments, and the relatives and friends of the boys will have a splendid chance to see how much their army training has done for them.

The men in F Company of "Boston's Own" are claiming the benedict record of the cantonment. Three members of the company married telephone girls within the past week and two more are to be married next week.

Private Joseph M. Scanlon of Cambridge was married to Miss Anna Stevenson of Cambridge, Private Frank Gillespie of Dorchester to Miss Katherine Bowen of Roxbury, and Private R. F. O'Connor of Dorchester to Miss Alice Grace of Dorchester.

The grooms-to-be are Sergeant William Maguire of Dorchester, who is engaged to Miss Beatrice Cunningham, and Private Edward Donlon of Jamaica Plain, the fiance of Miss Ruth Perry.

Sixty draftees in the depot brigade have been transferred into the veterinary corps and assigned to the 301st remount depot. Corporal Herbert W. Benedict of the 28th Company of the depot brigade, a former teacher in Wellesley High School, has been transferred into the ordnance department and sent to Camp Hancock, Ga.

Private William H. Hawley of E Company, 301st Engineers, has been sent to Washington and assigned to the chemical section of the National Army.

Editorial

The consolidation of the State police and private detectives employed by the Massachusetts Committee of Public Safety in the town of Ayer, under one head, is a commendable move that is bound to show results.

It should bring about more concerted action on the part of the authorities who are attempting to keep the soldiers at Camp Devens free from evil outside influences.

The State police squad under Frank Hale and the public safety men under Daniel McKay have done excellent work in the matter of keeping undesirables away from the cantonment and the town of Ayer since last September, and the co-ordination of both of these branches of the government's protective service should widen its scope.

These men have been a terror to "bootleggers" and to other violators of both the civil and military laws and with the co-operation of the local police, the Devens provost guard and the department of justice have kept towns in the vicinity of the cantonment outside the pale of vice.

ARREST 7 WHO FAIL TO SHOW REGISTRATION CARD

Seven Finns were arrested in Quincy for the failure to produce a registration card when asked by Inspector Bishop and Captain Goodhue of the Quincy police. At the police station they gave their names as: On Peltouen, twenty-three, No. 70 Kent street; Kusti Anderson, thirty, No. 14 West street; Charles Silja, twenty-three, No. 345 Granite street; Eikhar Haavisto, thirty-one, No. 61 Albertina street; John Korpanen, twenty-two, No. 70 Dent street; John Pasnann, twenty-five, No. 19 Nelson street; John Algren, twenty-eight, No. 86 Nelson street, all of Quincy.

BATTLE OPENS FOR BIG BASE AT SHIRLEY

Candidates at Officers' School Head Forces in Attack on Enemy Position

By WILLIAM FLYNN.

Camp Devens, April 12.—The outskirts of the cantonment today echoed with the din of battle as the candidates at the third officers' training school attacked an "enemy" position on a hill overlooking a supposed supply base at Shirley.

The candidates advanced in skirmish formation and spreading out through the woods gradually surrounded the hill and prepared for the charge which was expected to result in the capture of the position. The battle was scheduled to last all day. The candidates used machine guns, automatic rifles and their regular army rifles with blank cartridges for ammunition.

The battle formed an important part of the advanced training of the candidates, the majority of whom are scheduled to graduate from the school next week and be recommended for commissions as second lieutenants.

Previous to today's stellar engagement a detail of candidates under the command of Major Ralph Lowell captured a machine gun emplacement in less than two minutes from one of the infantry machine gun crews who were practicing on the range.

Major Lowell told the commander of the machine gun company that his men could capture the emplacement in two and a half minutes. The defi was accepted and a battle begun. The candidates automatic rifle squads drew the fire of the machine gunners and before the latter realized their danger they were figuratively wiped out by bombing squads.

One thousand pounds of dynamite is to be exploded in different parts of the grenade field to make "shell craters" over which bombing squads will be compelled to pick their way in much the same manner as they will be called upon to do when they get over to France.

AMBASSADOR JAMES W. GERARD, whose famous book, "My Four Years in Germany," is vividly reproduced in the movies.

WHITE EMPLOYES ENJOY SHOW BY STORE TALENT

One of the main features of an entertainment by several hundred employes of R. H. White Company was solo dancing in costume by Miss Jeanette Rosengen of Lynn. The entertainment, which was furnished almost entirely by store talent, followed a supper on the fifth floor of the building. The program included popular songs by Leonard Stone and Joseph Wagner, a patriotic drill by the Juniors, Pathescope, songs by Miss Emery and Miss Tweedle, and a vaudeville sketch by Bill Callahan and Billy Murray.

GERARD FILM IS FULL OF THRILLS

Plottings of Great German Military Autocracy for World Domination Revealed

Ambassador James W. Gerard's famous book, "My Four Years in Germany," done into moving pictures, was shown to the public for the first time in Boston when it was exhibited to a gathering of Liberty Loan workers in the Boston Opera House last night.

With conflicting emotions they sat through it, applauded thunderously, hissed or were moved as the scenes from before the assassination at Sarajevo up to America's entry into the war were called up before their eyes.

The picture is wonderfully thrilling and all the more absorbing because it deals with cold, harsh facts, not fiction. Any man or woman who can contemplate it without emotions of the most vivid kind lacks the heart and brain of a patriot.

It was to stimulate the workers to their utmost efforts in behalf of the Third Liberty Loan that the picture was shown and it certainly will not fail of its object.

The plottings of the great German military autocracy for world domination are revealed in a way that grips, also the violation of Belgium and the events that led up to the declaration of war with Germany.

Through the picture Ambassador Gerard himself moves appearing in those incidents in which he played so prominent a part as the representative of America. The picture shows the contemptible attitude of German autocracy for America before the war and of the insults to which the ambassador was subjected.

Hearty encouragement of the efforts of the workers were given in rousing speeches by Mayor Peters, Lieutenant-Governor Calvin Coolidge, N. Penrose Hallowell, executive chairman of the New England Liberty Loan committee; Max Mitchell, chairman of the Jewish Liberty Loan committee; and Alexander Whiteside, chairman of the State committee on citizens of foreign birth. Mrs. Claudine Love sang patriotic songs in French and English.

Feeds Plants, Kills Men

Something About Nitrogen and a Useful War Lesson

Copyright, 1918, by the Star Company

L. S. Kebler, president of the Men's Club, in a big church, talked recently to his extremely intelligent audience about "Atmospheric Nitrogen, the Nation's Salvation."

From Mr. Kebler's talk was gathered the satisfactory information that war is educating the United States and causing human beings to do in a hurry work that will be important for all time.

Moliere's amusing gentleman, suddenly enriched, decided to be literary, and inquired as to the difference between poetry and prose. He was amazed to find that he had been writing prose all his life. "All my life," said he, "and without knowing it."

Many human beings are surprised when they learn that they have been breathing in nitrogen all their lives.

Others are surprised to learn that nitrogen, the most important element in fertilizing the soil, absolutely necessary to the feeding of the human race, is in the air all around us. Every lungful of air contains so much nitrogen—just as, by the way, every pailful of sea water contains so much gold.

Some men have made dishonest fortunes pretending that they could extract the gold from sea water.

The Government of the United States and the Governments of other countries are making huge fortunes for their populations, adding unlimited value to the soil, by extracting the nitrogen from the air around us.

According to Mr. Kebler, who is one of the Government's good workers in the field of science, there are, in the air that surrounds our planet, about 400 TRILLION tons of nitrogen.

That is a good deal of nitrogen. Multiply the 400 trillion tons by a hundred dollars, which would be a cheap price for a ton, and you see that much wealth is floating around in the air.

Nitrogen is extracted from the air by the use of electricity, and all intelligent Governments are at work getting it out.

There is plenty for all. You cannot exhaust the supply of nitrogen in the air—as you might exhaust coal in the beds, or oil in the wells.

After the nitrogen is used by human beings, animals or plants, it is released and goes back into the atmosphere again.

And you cannot exhaust, either, the power that produces the electricity that takes nitrogen out of the air and gives it back to man for his fertilizing servant.

The electric power is supplied by waterfalls. After they have gone down over the cataracts and created their electric force, the sun lifts them up into the air again in clouds from the ocean, and they fall down and do the work over again.

It is as good an imitation of perpetual motion as you could care to have.

Scientists will tell you that gradually the earth will become perfectly round with "attrition," so that there will be no hills, no mountains, no waterfalls.

But that is a long way off, and by that time we shall be using the power of the sun, and the power of the tides—and perhaps living such an ethereal life as to make very little nitrogenous food necessary.

It may interest you to know that the German nation would have been absolutely and hopelessly beaten long ago, incapable of continuing the war, if it had not been foremost in the important work of getting nitrogen from the air.

Without nitrogen you cannot make explosives. The first year of the war the Germans used more than seven hundred and fifty thousand tons of nitrogen. They have been using more each year. You can imagine how important it was for Germany and how unfortunate for the rest of the world that German science should have solved so completely this problem of taking from the air the element that fertilizes fields and murders men.

Luckily, the Germans established as a private enterprise, apart from their government, a big nitrogen-producing plant in Norway. This they sold when the war broke out. The French Government bought it, and is getting now, from the waterfalls of Norway, the nitrogen that is used in nitroglycerine and in other explosives to send the scientific, highly efficient, and highly murderous Prussian gentlemen to a region considerably above or below the nitrogen-bearing air.

All this and many more interesting things Mr. Kebler pointed out to the young men—which shows that it pays to join the young men's club in your church.

"Penny Wise, Pound Foolish"

Better No More Constitutional Convention Than a Poorly Attended One

The following is an interesting letter from Herbert A. Kenny, Esq., a member of the Constitutional Convention:

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

"Penny wise and pound foolish" members of the Legislature have seen fit to criticise the Constitutional Convention and cut down the compensation of the delegates. Alas for Massachusetts! What degeneration is taking place! Ah, Boston! ruder races may throng thy streets, but their intellect measures far above some of those who imagine they can sway the "rod of empire." Don't these "economical" legislators know that when no compensation is given to a legislator that it means an oligarchy of rich men; government by wealth; government of the dollar and not of the man?

In an atmosphere "where wealth accumulates and men decay" do the so-called members of the present General Court think that the poor will get just representation? A Constitutional Convention, like the century plant, blossoms but once a hundred years, and it is the quintessent concentration of coagulated nonsense to think that by cutting down the compensation of the delegates that Massachusetts is saving money.

Oh, economy! economy! What crimes are committed in thy name!

HERBERT A. KENNY,
Delegate Twelfth Suffolk District.

True Love Never Did Run Smooth

A LITTLE SIN AT RIGHT TIME IS FINE

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

*"There, little girl, don't cry.
You have broken your doll, I know."*

FIVE letters in one mail delivery and each one of them a sob.

There is really no differentiation in troubles; whether your woe is in reason or out of it, it is still a woe. There is no hard and fast line between the real and the imaginary. If you have the blues for no cause under the sun, you still have the blues; and they are just as hard to bear as if there were a definite excuse for them. But why should we multiply our bothers and griefs, and then study them under a magnifying glass?

"I have always striven to show a cheerful countenance. But often I have found it very hard; for if I was naturally cheerful there would be no need of an extra effort.

"I didn't know I really looked cheerful until some time ago some one remarked. 'I believe nothing would go wrong if you were around. You're a regular gloom-chaser.'

"Now, Mrs. Woodrow, when I often feel very blue and discouraged, and still people think I am carefree, and when hot temper seems ready to burn me up and still I keep it within me and try to be sweet, am I not deceiving? Am I not false to everyone and to myself? CONSCIOUS."

A Little Sin

Fudge! my dear "Conscious!" As the family doctor, I prescribe a little genuine sin for you. You are in danger of becoming too good. Stop always bottling up that hot temper. Give it a day out now and then, and let it burn someone else. Why should you have all the scars? And chase that New England conscience of yours. It is beginning to tyrannize over you terribly. A New England conscience is like a little knowledge—a dangerous thing. You've got to keep it firmly in its place, or it'll end by bossing you and all your affairs.

And, please, if you would be loved and your companionship sought, do not be determinedly cheerful. Just be cheerful. A "determinedly cheerful" person is certain to bring out the worst traits in everyone about.

I met one of them on the street the other day. I am very careful never to meet her anywhere else, although we have known each other for years. And there she was with that same neat, varnished smile on her lips, and the same hard, bright eyes which never smile.

I am glad I never meet her at the breakfast table; that is no place for determinedly cheerful people. I am sure I would never be able to sit opposite her and decorously eat my eggs. I would have to hurl them straight at that unvarying smile.

Right to Deceit

And as to whether you are deceiving yourself and your friends by appearing cheerful when you do not feel so, I can't see that any moral question is involved. No matter how demanding and intrusive your friends may be, they can hardly dictate to you what face you shall show to the world. It's none of their business

You might just as well argue, "When I feel in a lazy, indifferent mood and do not take the least interest in dressing my hair becomingly or putting on my hat at the right angle and getting out a fresh pair of gloves, and yet do so because I am impelled by the force of habit and my own self-respect, am I not deceiving myself and my friends?"

In the last analysis, and on a basis of strict fact, probably you are. But what of it? When some dear friend unsheathes her cat-claws and scratches you an inch deep, and you feel like slapping her face then and there, are you deceiving your friends by withholding your hand? Certainly not! You are merely obeying the unwritten law of polite society.

ADVENTURE OF MAKING LOVE TO MEN

By Winifred Black

"MEN Who Have Made Love to Me"—she's telling all about in the magazines, the mysterious woman with the personality. I wonder how much she'll tell and just exactly what she'll forget.

Somehow the men who make love to us are always so different from the men we wish would make love to us, and absolutely and entirely different from the men to whom we should like to make love—if we dared.

There's never anything very romantic about the man who really makes love to you, is there?

He says all the same old things, in just the same old way, and he seems to be astonished and hurt if you think of anything new to say to him in reply.

The man who doesn't make love to you—oh, he's so different! Quite different!

There's always something so different about him. You can't quite imagine what he'd say or how he'd say it, and you'd like to see his face change—just to you—just to you out of all the world.

How About Others?

And you wonder and wonder who the woman is that he does make love to, and whether she appreciates him or not, and if she knows how lucky she is, and whether she answers him as he should be answered, or if she's just a little calculating minx, who wouldn't give him her real heart for the world for the very excellent reason that she has no heart to give.

The man you'd like to make love to—no, indeed, I shan't tell about him, but we all know one, don't we? Sometimes he's very, very old and tired, and lonely, and we're sorry for him, and would like to warm the fires on the hearthstone for him just for a few minutes, to make him feel that there is still room in the world for him. And sometimes he's very, very young, and eager and earnest, and he has illusions and hopes, and you don't want to see his hopes die, and you can't bear to watch his illusions fade—and, just to keep him young and hopeful and real and honest and true, you'd like, if it wasn't so very, very wrong, to show him how a true woman can truly love.

No, I don't think I'm interested in the article about the "men who have made love to me," which the woman with the personality is writing.

Now, if she would just tell about the "men who have loved me"—that would be worth reading.

But I suppose she doesn't know which is which—so few of us do, I fear. And yet so often they aren't in the least alike in any one particular, the men who make love to us and the men who love us.

The men who make love to us are so facile, so easy. They speak the words so trippingly on the tongue. They can write such lovely letters and send such sweet flowers right in the very nick of time, and they "understand" so well. Alas! all too well they understand, for men with such "understanding" have either learned it through much practice or they are those "born lovers" who can no more help making love to every woman they see than a rose can stop blooming or a cat which promenades the back fence can help sending his melodious howl skyward to the moon.

Interesting Series

Men I have loved — now that would be an interesting series, if you like—and the most interesting thing about that series would be to trace the strange family resemblance between the different men, not in looks, perhaps, but in manner, or character, or disposition; for Mary Smith falls in love with John Smith and not in love with John Jones, for a mysterious reason that is so much deeper than the mere passing fancy of a vagrant heart that neither she nor John Smith have the faintest idea of the tremendous force which is working out its own problems through the medium of their little passing whimsies that they're pleased to call by the name of "love."

Men who have made love to me—come, personality woman, tell us the truth. What kind of love was it, and how did you like to have them make it?
